

Just over 150 books were donated to students at Theodore Roosevelt Elementary on Thursday, March 21st from Ohana100's "WNY Go! Read" campaign. Ohana100's mission is to promote early childhood literacy. Their goal is to donate 20,000 books to schools throughout Western New York between February and March.

In addition to getting books into children's hands at TR, Ohana100 had a volunteer read to each UPK and Kindergarten classroom. For more information about the organization, check out <http://www.ohana100.org/wny-go-read>.
